Stronger Together

You work hard for your credit union to provide exceptional service to your members.

Our industry is focused on more than simply providing financial services. Together, we are focused on making an impact in our communities, providing financial education, promoting legislative initiatives, and realizing greater operational efficiencies.

You are here because of your members, and for your members. And we are here for you.

The Maine Credit Union League and Synergent thank you for your continued support and partnership. We absolutely are stronger together.

“Stronger Together” is not just a phrase or concept. It represents a vision, a mission, a promise—a promise to each other and a promise to the members and communities we serve. “Stronger Together” is a commitment to take action as a collective so we can have the greatest positive impact on our state.

Over the past 26 months, all of us have faced our fair share of challenges, but we never faced the hurdles alone. In coming together as we have, our industry’s collective efforts to improve the financial lives of our members during this global pandemic had a tremendous impact on those we serve and the people around them.

Since the pandemic began, our credit unions have provided our members and our communities a trusted source to turn to. Credit unions have been that haven, providing uninterrupted service, resources, and financial education during an extraordinary time. Whether we are helping a member rebound from a job loss or medical emergency, supporting a student’s desire to further their education, or providing a small business with a loan either to expand or just get through the impacts of the pandemic, credit unions show up in the darkest of hours and in times of joy. We’ve been doing this from our inception. It’s what sets our industry apart and exemplifies the credit union difference.

Although as individual credit unions we can help our members and our own communities, it’s collectively where we have the greatest ability to effect change. Together, we’ve worked hard to ensure those who are food insecure have access to nutritious meals. At a time when it would have been easy to abandon our fundraising goals, credit unions did what was needed, raising nearly $1.9 million during the first two years of the pandemic. In 2021, the Campaign contributed over $930,000 to combat hunger and provide meals to Mainers across the state. The Campaign has now surpassed the $11.3 million mark in funds raised since its inception in 1990. For 2022, we’re hoping to surpass $1 million in fundraising for the first time in the Campaign’s history.

While raising money is important, credit union employees also contributed nearly 14,000 hours of volunteer time in their communities, at a value of just under $400,000.

In addition, credit unions are working with our hunger-relief partners, schools, and other organizations across the state to address the root causes of hunger by advancing our financial education outreach. Despite restrictions on in-person Financial Fitness Fairs, in 2021 we reached roughly 3,000 high school juniors and seniors through our Virtual Financial Fitness Fair. We also have developed a full K-5 curriculum to help children learn financial skills at a young age. Work already is underway for middle and high school curriculums, and we look forward to rolling these critical resources out later this year to reach even more students.
In Augusta and Washington, DC, our voice remains strong. In 2021, the League’s advocacy transitioned to a virtual format to continue representing credit union interests. Among other things, we advanced electronic modernization by enacting an e-titling working group and a remote online notary system. We provided expertise on interchange fees and banking proposals to both local and nationally elected officials. Together, Maine’s credit unions continue to maintain a solid and trustworthy reputation with our elected representatives at home and in our nation’s capital.

While we can see firsthand the meaningful difference we are making for our members and our communities, consumers at large also recognize the value of credit unions. Last year, Portland Research Group conducted a survey to assess how consumers view different financial institutions in Maine, including credit unions. The survey found that consumer sentiments of credit unions are strong, with 63% having a favorable impression of credit unions—higher than their impression of Maine-based banks and national banks. Of the 33% of respondents who use a credit union as their primary financial institution, 99% are satisfied with that relationship, and 93% said they would recommend a credit union to a friend or family member. These findings should make our movement proud and motivate us to do even more together.

President Jimmy Carter once said, “We must adjust to changing times and still hold to unchanging principles.” Maine credit unions have proven we can do just that time and time again. Together, we have adapted to the world around us and found new ways to reach and support our members where they are. And as a result, we all are stronger in so many ways.

Respectfully submitted,
